Spring is Soon
 Wait-a-minute! Before contradicting this: November? Gone! January? Gone! February? Gone! March? Yes, Here! Every spring, snow is left in patches on the ground and our eyes alight with surprise to see how spring changes the sky and touches the trees. Spring also brings new flowers! A week ago we looked out at swirling snow yet during this we heard on TV that Sydney, Australia was having a mighty heat wave. Weather varies around the globe but spring sets a tether for the weather. For nature possesses a bit of patience we really can't comprehend! We scream at weather changes fore nature has the serenity we lack the ability to lick! Cloudbursts and raging winds are a part of the master plan! My Gosh! We hate to admit it but a tree is more complex than yes! You or me!

Red McDonald had a band that frequently played at the Walled Lake Casino. While listening to him one night he once told of "off season" engagements to play at clubs in Detroit which had close relations with the notorious Purple Gang. (A gang common for smuggling alcohol during the '20s.) Often, he said, there would be a loaded revolver on the raised bandstand floor. Red said many times he had gently moved it with his feet so that it would not be directly pointing at him. He also commented at the class of these places. Red McDonald said the champagne sold there was simply alka-seltzer and dry gingerale. Hmph!

On a tombstone out west is this inscription! "Remember friend, when passing by, as you are so now, so was I, prepare for death and follow me." To which someone had added "To follow you I am not content until I know the way you went."

"Problems are only opportunities in work clothes."
 Henry Kaiser

Superior to a kind thought is a kind word. Better than either is a kind deed.

Ambition never gets anywhere until it forms a partnership with work.
 Baptist Trumpet

I almost had a psychic girlfriend but she left me before we met.
 Ha Ha Ha!

An English professor once wrote: "A woman without her man is nothing" And asked his young scholar to punctuate the sentence. She bravely ran to the front of the room, picked up the chalk and wrote: "A woman, without her, man is nothing."

MOVIES! MOVIES! MOVIES!

In the olde days, say, silent movies, there was little doubt as to the character of any certain actor; the eyes so well told the story of love, of hate, of cunning of hapless humor. The villain, we well knew when he himself ate the candy that he'd brought the school marm. The cowboy hero not only wore a white hat but the school marm really liked him and only just tolerated the villain's attentions.

Later on, however, the movies - we suppose - "grew up" and we weren't so sure of good and bad people until deep into the picture unfolding. And, sometimes it even left us asking ourselves: "Well, wadda know! What a strange ending!" WHICH brings us to some of the latest video cassettes: "My God! What in the world was THAT all about?"

Wonder

Do you often wonder WHO takes the time to care.

Whose life one would openly and honestly share.

Do you often wonder WHAT it's like to love someone.

What will it take to get through it when the mission is done.

Do you often wonder WHERE a person should really go.

Where the times are easier and emotions free to show.

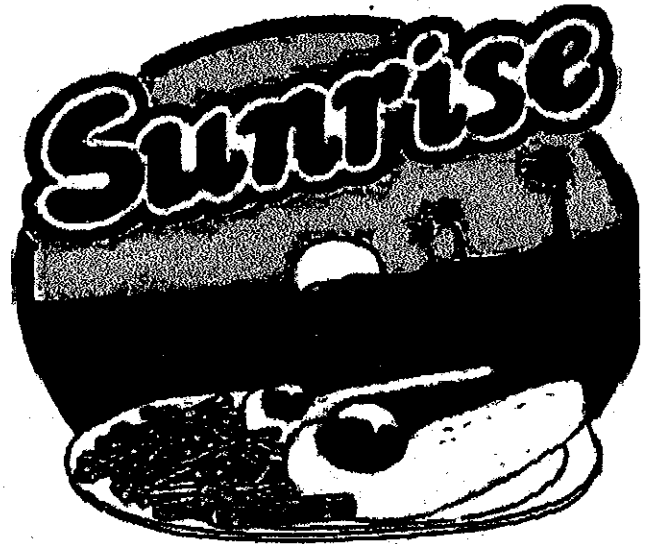

Do you often wonder WHEN it's time to say good-bye.

When knowing in your heart you really did try.

Do you often wonder Why it's always me. Why I don't make a stand again and make my life free.

It's because of you.

The Long Forgotten Past

Why do we reach out with eager fingers for the long forgotten past? Can time indeed be recalled or even stopped within our clutching grasp? This frenetic pace we can not bare? This is our reason. We search for things that last. Things that will keep us in time like the relaxing yellow glow of a water fill sunset.

MICHAEL GRANT

SUSAN GRANT

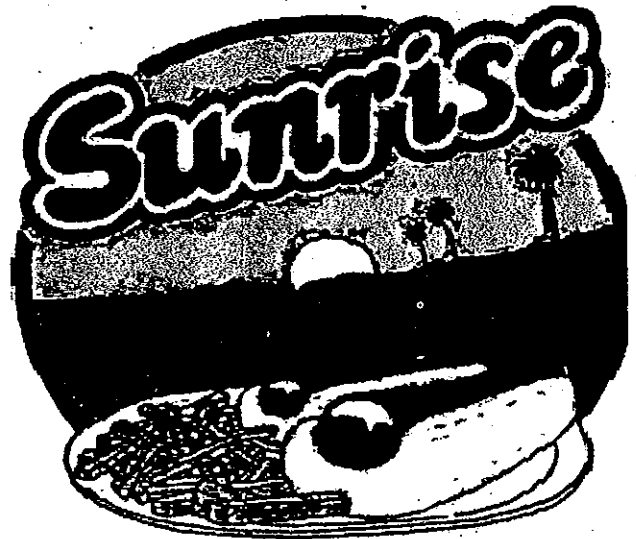

Readers, ponder this:

Perfect Reality

Every person may look for perfection in one's own way. But, the reality of perfection can or may never be agreed on. This is why I have my own reality of perfect imperfections. A perfect imperfection allows me to think with an open mind. It gives me the faith and willpower from within to believe and be successful in my own reality.

Reality is only what you make it.
Reality is ego.
Reality is learned from birth.
Reality is what we believe in and will fight for.
Reality is choice and sometimes no choice.

Is your reality perfectly imperfect?

Hearing loss affects nearly 28 million Americans and is found among all ages. For ninety percent of individuals who suffer from hearing loss, there is no cure. The only possible solution is some form of amplification, such as a hearing aid. At Cruz Hearing, we specialize in advanced digital hearing aids. This technology can dramatically improve your overall hearing and enhance your quality of life.
